

SUPPLEMENTAL NOTICE OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT
in
ADAMS ESOP LITIGATION
Foster, et al. v. Adams and Associates, Inc., Case No. 18-cv-02723-JSC (N.D. Cal.)

Please read this notice carefully and completely.
If you are a member of the Class, the settlement will affect your legal rights.

A federal court has authorized this notice.
This is not a solicitation from a lawyer.
You have not been sued.

This Notice provides you with additional information about a settlement for which you should have previously received notice.¹ The parties to this class action reached a settlement, and the Court granted final approval to the Settlement in February 2022. Before final approval, Notice of Class Action Settlement was provided to the participants and beneficiaries of the Adams and Associates, Inc. Employee Stock Ownership Plan (“the ESOP”) who are members of the Class. This notice supplements that original Notice and provides additional important information about changes to how certain Class Members will receive their payments from the Net Settlement Fund.

I. Why Did You Receive This Supplemental Notice?

The original Notice informed Class Members who are former employees of Adams and Associate, Inc. (“AAI”) that they had the option to submit an election form to receive their share of the Net Settlement Fund by check or roll it over to an Individual Retirement Account (“IRA”) or an employer-sponsored qualified retirement plan of their choice. Under that distribution plan, if the Class Member did not submit an election form, his or her settlement distribution would be transferred to the Adams and Associates, Inc. 401(k) Profit Sharing Plan (“the AAI 401(k) Plan”), after the Settlement was no longer subject to any appeals, which was April 13, 2022.

Because of the terms of the AAI 401(k) Plan, the parties have agreed that the most efficient way to distribute settlement payments to Class Members who are (1) former employees, (2) without an existing account with the AAI 401(k) Plan, and (3) eligible for a settlement distribution between $1,000 and $4,999.99, is for such Class Members to receive the funds through a check or a rollover.

You received this Supplemental Notice because you were identified from Defendants’ records as a Class Member who is a former AAI employee and who did not submit the original election form, does not have an existing account with the AAI 401(k) Plan, and is eligible for a settlement distribution in the amount of $<Amount>.

More information about the settlement can be found here: <https://www.adamsesop.com/>

II. How Do You Receive Your Payment?

If you are a Class Member who does not have an existing account with the AAI 401(k) Plan, and is eligible for a settlement distribution between $1,000 and $4,999.99, you may request to receive an immediate distribution by check or by rolling over your share of the settlement proceeds to an IRA or another employer-sponsored qualified retirement plan by filling out and returning the enclosed Election Form by September 23, 2022.

- If you request an immediate distribution, the Settlement Administrator will withhold 20% of the payment for federal income taxes, and the Settlement Administrator will send you a check (which will be at least 20 days after the deadline for submitting the Election Form). If you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (including amounts withheld for income tax) that you do not roll over, unless one of the exceptions applies.
- If you do not submit an Election Form by September 23, 2022, the Settlement Administrator will send you a check payable to you.

You should consult with your tax and financial advisor regarding whether to roll the settlement payment over to an IRA or to another retirement plan.
